REBELS SEEN PLANNING NEW ASSAULT

New Hopes Stirred For Air Academy

Sensenbrenner Says Columbus Chances Good

Hopes Site Can Be In Southern Area Toward Circleville

Mayor M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner of Columbus disclosed Friday night he has received strong official encouragement for his efforts to have the nation's Air Force Academy built in the region of Columbus—and on the side nearest Circleville.

He told The Herald this section of the state is "very definitely" being considered as possible site for the new "West Point of the Air", and that the Columbus Chamber of Commerce has recently been asked by Washington officials to provide additional information on what the regional advantages would be. Sensenbrenner, a Circleville native and widely known here, had been asked to elaborate on a wire dispatch saying he had received encouraging word on the academy project from Congressman John Vorys of Ohio.

Top points in the mayor's explanation were:

1. When Vorys assured him this region is being considered, he didn't mean it was "just on the list" with many hundreds of other bidding localities throughout the nation. The region apparently has a better-than-even chance to get the academy, planned to be for America's army, that West Point is to the Army and Annapolis is to the Navy.

2. Sensenbrenner personally hopes to have the academy located "as near to both Columbus and Circleville as possible." Asked if Vorys had indicated the site under study was "down this way from Columbus for any distance", the mayor said:

"That's where I want it put. That's the place I'd like to see it."

Guaranteed Annual Wage Plan Outlined

CHICAGO (AP)—A plan for a guaranteed annual wage has been laid before members of the CIO United Auto Workers Union.

The union plans to make a demand for the guaranteed wage when it resumes contract negotiations with the automobile manufacturers next year. The details placed before members yesterday at the UAW-CIO International Education Conference were labeled "conclusions reached by the UAW-CIO Study Committee" thus far in its continuing study of the guaranteed annual wage.

This is the text of the guarantee provision.

"1. All workers able to work and available for work will be guaranteed 40 straight time hours of work or pay at their regular wage rates for every week, unless notified in advance that they are to be laid off for the entire week. The pay guarantee for piece workers will be 40 times their previous average straight time earnings if given less than 40 straight time hours of work during any week or not notified in advance of a full week layoff.

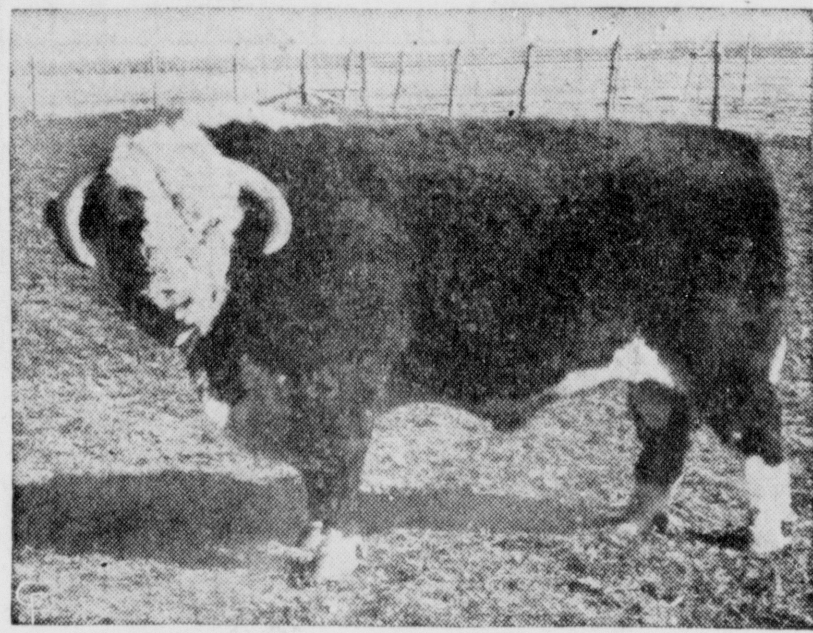

"2. When such advance notice is given, seniority workers will receive guaranteed payments for each full week of layoff in amounts sufficient to enable them to maintain the same living standards as when fully employed."

Another key provision set forth that all workers will be covered by the 40-hour guarantee.

Gleason's Wife Asks High Alimony

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Gleason's wife, who says the TV funnyman "spends money with reckless abandon," has filed a separation suit against the roly-poly star involving a new high in temporary alimony.

Mrs. Genevieve Gleason, 38, filed a petition in Supreme Court yesterday charging abandonment and non-support and asked $5,000 a month temporary alimony and $20,000 in counsel fees.

Honor Society Officers Chosen As Initiation Names 47 Students

New officers were elected for the Pickaway Honor Society last night at initiation ceremonies held at Deer Creek High School. Named president for 1954-55 was Robert Wright, Ashville-Harrison. Vice president was Dale Drake, Salter Creek. Patsy Fausnaugh, Scioto, is the new secretary while Virgil Anderson, Deer Creek, is chaplain. Bill Drum, Walnut, was elected sergeant-at-arms.

Forty-seven Pickaway County students were inducted into the society in special ceremonies. These boys and girls are chosen on a point basis from lists supplied by each county school.

First, the faculty makes a list of all those with a 2.75 grade average (out of a possible 4.0). They can only recommend one-third of the class. Then, there are points assigned to various categories on which the teachers must score.

For scholarship, there is a maximum of 40 points; service, which includes activities, has a maximum of 20; leadership has 15; and character is worth 25.

THE FACULTY then add up the points they assign each pupil (a certain number of points for each category mentioned above) and place the score on each pupil's recommendation blank.

Winter Wheat Crop Cut Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A combination of drought, dust storms and production controls apparently has cut this year's winter wheat crop to about 200 million bushels below that of a year ago.

The Agriculture Department estimated yesterday this year's winter wheat crop would total 677,891,000 bushels as compared with a crop of 877,511,000 bushels last year. This year's crop also appears to be well below the 10-year average of 832,977,000 bushels.

Bishop, CIO, Ike Aide Agree: Joe's Noisy Headline Hunter

CHICAGO (AP)—A Roman Catholic bishop, the CIO and a close friend and adviser to President Eisenhower yesterday agreed here that Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) is a "noisy headline hunter."

The bishop, Bernard J. Sheil, in a speech before the CIO-UAW education conference, said of his fellow Roman Catholic, McCarthy: "It is time to 'cry out against the phony anti-communism that mocks our way of life, spouts our traditions and Democratic procedures and our sense of fair play.'"

Replying to the bishop's address, which was cheered by some 2,500 union members, Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, declared: "We are happy to join with you in this fight against political immorality in America. Communists cannot be defeated by using their tactics."

"We agree with our good friend Bishop Sheil that if you are going to fight the curse of communism, then we in America must demonstrate that we are going to make point average are elected to the honor society. However, there can be only 10 per cent of the junior class and 15 per cent of the senior class considered. The students are chosen by taking the highest point score with regard to the designated class per centages.

The general committee is headed by George McDowell, county superintendent of schools. The members are one teacher from each county school.

The 1953-54 committee includes: Miss Mildred Paul, secretary, from New Holland; Carl Bennett, Darby; Mrs. Lois Brobst, Monroe; Robert Moyer, Jackson; Miss Mildred Wertman, Pickaway; Miss Alice De Long, Salter Creek; C. E. Mahaffey, Ashville; Mrs. Ida Ware, Deer Creek; who also was in charge of the musical portion of the ceremonies; Walter Haney, Scioto; Mrs. John Hardin, Perry; and Howard Hosler, Walnut.

According to the honor society's constitution, the officers were nominated by the general committee. However, only new members of the society were allowed to vote. The purpose of the society is to create a standard for other pupils to follow.

New members are:

Dolores Akers, Deer Creek; Virgil Anderson, Deer Creek; Willard Arledge, Pickaway; Lowell Bayes, Walnut; Barbara Brigner, Walnut; Phyllis Butt, Jackson; Jane Caldwell, Ashville-Harrison; Marilyn L. McCarthy Readies For Coming Probe

Senate Panel To Open Hearings On Joe's Army Feud On April 22

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) returned today from Arizona to prepare for the televised Senate public hearings called to determine the truth in his bitter controversy with the Army.

McCarthy has declared he will "insist" on the right to cross examine the Army people with whom he is feuding, and has offered to let them cross examine him, but the Senate Investigations subcommittee which will run the probe has served notice it hopes to arrange other procedures.

McCarthy has stepped aside as the subcommittee's chairman for the duration of the inquiry, letting Sen. Mundt (R-SD) serve as its temporary head.

At McCarthy's request, the subcommittee voted yesterday to postpone for one day—to April 22—the start of the public hearings, to allow time for him to make a sched-

Lima Escapee Talks Freely After Capture

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—John Rankin limped through downtown crowds here for several days while a widespread dragnet was out for the escaped Lima, Ohio, jailbreaker.

And Rankin said when he heard that police had described he had way hair he got it cut crew style.

Rankin, captured yesterday by two detectives who overpowered him in downtown Tampa, talked freely with reporters who interviewed him in a hospital where he is being treated for a pistol bullet wound in the leg.

He, Dick Rupert and James Moore escaped from the Lima jail March 28, stole a car and came here. Moore was arrested two days before Rankin and is being held on a federal charge of fleeing to avoid prosecution for burglary. Neither Rankin nor Moore say they know what became of Rupert.

The boyish-faced Rankin was bitter about Moore.

"Bringing him (Moore) along was a mistake from the start," Rankin said. "He caused nothing but trouble all the way."

Rankin said the three had a fuss over some women they picked up in a bar. Later, he said he awakened in the night to find Moore pointing a pistol at Rupert. Rankin said he slipped behind Moore and hit him with a blackjack. It was right after that blow on the head that Moore was captured by police.

Fort Wayne Kroger Truckers Strike

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Sixty truck drivers called a strike against the Kroger Co. in the Fort Wayne area yesterday and halted deliveries to 66 stores operated by the grocery chain.

A spokesman for the AFL Teamsters Union, which represents the drivers, said the strike was to protest the "boggling down" of negotiations for a new contract.

The drivers, who now receive $1.88 an hour, rejected a company offer of an eight-cent increase and held out for 10 cents. Kroger warehousemen, members of the same union local, recently accepted eight cents and continued working during the strike.

Rita, Dick Seen Waiting For Aly

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Rita Hayworth and her crooner-husband, Dick Haymes, went deep sea fishing here today.

Miss Hayworth and Haymes came here Thursday night, reportedly for a meeting between the actress and her former husband, Prince Aly Khan, to work out a settlement for their child, Yasmin.

Aly, however, was reported still in Los Angeles and was said to have an engagement there tomorrow, ruling out any chance of his meeting Rita here soon.

uled Texas Independence Day speech in Houston, Tex., April 21. Mundt said Ray H. Jenkins, the subcommittee's new special counsel, is at home in Knoxville, Tenn., laying groundwork for the hearings.

HE IS ALSO charting recommendations on important preliminaries the subcommittee will handle behind closed doors at meetings starting Monday morning.

The subcommittee ordered its investigation after:

1. An official Army report alleged that McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, subcommittee chief counsel, had sought to win special favors for Pvt. G. David Schine, a wealthy subcommittee consultant who was drafted.

2. McCarthy and Cohn accused secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and John G. Adams, Army general counsel, of trying to use the drafting of Schine as "a club" to blackmail the subcommittee into dropping its investigations of Reds in the Army.

McCarthy said in a news conference in Tucson yesterday he intends to discuss publicly the charge he made Tuesday night that the United States' hydrogen bomb research was delayed 18 months.

McCarthy said then, in a nationally telecast talk, the delay was deliberate and he asked why it occurred "if there were no Communists in our government."

Numerous officials, from President Eisenhower on down, have said they know of no delay as McCarthy had claimed.

Suzan Ball To Be Wed In Gala Nuptials

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Suzan Ball, the young actress who lost a leg to cancer, and Dick Long, who lost a heart to Suzan, wed tomorrow to the movie wedding of the year.

Most of Hollywood's younger set will trek to Santa Barbara for the 7 p. m. (EST) rites in El Monte Presbyterian Church.

Not since Ann Blyth married Dr. Jim McNulty has a movieland wedding attracted so much interest.

Black-eyed Suzan spent her last day of maidenhood in the usual chaotic state of brides to be.

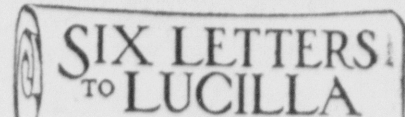

Long is moving in to Miss Ball's apartment after the honeymoon. The doorbell at Suzan's small apartment rang constantly as messengers delivered gifts, telegrams and letters from all over the world.

Many came from new found friends, openly admiring the 21-year-old girl's pluckiness in her year-long fight with cancer that forced amputation of her right leg.

Long, 26-year-old ex-G.I., seemed calm though it's his first try at matrimony, too.

"It's too early for the shock to set in," he confided to a friend.

The bride will walk down the aisle on crutches. She still is only training with a new artificial leg.

HOW would the great events of Passion Week look to a Roman citizen, an impartial spectator, who chanced to be in Jerusalem at that time?

What would be the effect on the mind of a gentle, sensitive stranger, as he witnessed the Betrayal, the Trial and Tribulation, the Crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ?

The answers form a new and moving account of Passion Week as it might have been told by Arius the Roman in his missives home to his wife, in his

5-Nation Secret Conference On Disarmament Is Studied

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—With recent U. S. hydrogen bomb tests injecting a "new note of urgency," the West today was solidly behind a proposal for private talks among the Big Four and Canada on world disarmament. Russia asked for time to study the plan.

The dramatic proposal to take such arms discussions out of the public eye, where they have proved only a deadlock of propaganda exchanges, was made yesterday by Britain's Sir Pierson Dixon before the U. N. Disarmament Commission.

Most delegates expected the Russians finally would agree to the secret talks, but some observers wondered whether Russia might not be preparing to insist on Red China's participation.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky said he would have to reserve until later his comment on the British proposal, which got prompt backing by the United States, France and Canada.

One member of the commission said he understood Vishinsky had sought the delay because he had not received instructions from Moscow in time for yesterday's session.

IN AN OBVIOUS reference to the latest American H-bomb tests and the chain reaction political furor they have set off around the world, Sir Pierson said in introducing the plan "there is a new note of urgency in the world today. We must redouble our efforts."

The plan calls for creation of a five-power sub-committee consisting of the United States, Britain, France, Russia and Canada to try to find a solution to the disarmament and atomic control problem which public debate has failed to solve the past eight years.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. seconded the British proposal as did Henri Hoppenot of France. Lodge said the U. S. was prepared also to give careful attention to any proposals the Soviet union is ready to make.

Calling for air-tight agreements which would insure international inspection and control of armaments, Lodge declared:

"We shall never consent to any shadow agreement which would gamble with our security, nor should we expect the Soviet Union to do so. Only a real agreement is worth anything to either of us."

Lodge also suggested the subcommittee might consider a recent call by India's Prime Minister Nehru for an immediate standstill on all further hydrogen bomb tests.

Only About Half To Get Polio Shots

COLUMBUS (AP)—It appeared today only about half of the eligible 61,000 children in three Ohio counties would take part in field tests of a new anti-polio vaccine this month.

Authorities had expected 80 per cent would take part, but said some parents were reluctant to give their approval because of a recent "unfounded" radio statement by Commentator Walter Winchell, who said the vaccine is dangerous. Health authorities have emphatically stated it is not dangerous. The tests are to be given in Richland, Montgomery and Summit counties.

After 18 Peaceful Years, Toledoan Bared As Escapee

TOLEDO (AP)—Columbus Howard Bennett worked hard as a house painter during the last 18 years as a Toledo resident.

His wife said the slight, gray-haired man was a fine husband and a wonderful father to their seven children.

The 59-year-old painter's only recorded scrape with the law was a traffic summons for having no muffler on his automobile.

But last March 25, Bennett's 14-year-old son admired a $15 toy fire engine. That started the painter's world crumbling, and last night his world fell apart.

Police say the man, known to his family and neighbors only as Bennett, is really Christopher Columbus Howard Hair, who escaped from a Huntsville, Texas, penitentiary where he was serving a life term as a habitual criminal.

INSPECTOR Anthony A. Bosch said Bennett admitted he escaped from the Texas prison in 1936, and that he had successfully deceived his family about his past. In tears, Bennett told police:

"I swore to myself I never would do anything to disgrace my wonderful wife and our children. And now it all came tumbling down."

Bennett first came to the attention of authorities two weeks ago. He was out driving with one of his sons. While Bennett was getting water for his car's radiator, the boy noticed the toy red fire engine on a sidewalk nearby.

A man poked his head out of a house and yelled that the boy was stealing the engine.

Bennett's boy dropped the toy and ran to his car. Bennett drove off, but the angered man took down his license number and notified police about what he thought was an attempted theft.

Detectives called at Bennett's home, and after questioning the father and son, booked Bennett on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Police recorded and circulated Bennett's fingerprints as a matter of routine. Last night, they received a telegram from Texas authorities describing Bennett's prints as those of Hair, who was given the life sentence after a series of burglaries.

Indochina Fort Battered, Air Strip Blasted

Dulles Ready To Leave For Conferences With British And French

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The Viet-minh rebels entrenched around Dien Bien Phu kept up a roaring artillery barrage on the French stronghold last night in advance of another expected infantry assault.

At the same time, U. S. Secretary of State Dulles planned to leave Washington this evening for Europe to personally push England and France into greater support for his proposed 10-nation anti-Red stand on the Indochinese conflict. Only one of the 10 has lined up behind Dulles so far.

Hanoi information, meanwhile, also revealed that suicide crews from the rebel side used last night's darkness to blow up portions of the Dien Bien Phu air strip, lone supply-servicing point for the fort's defenders.

The guerrillas crept through French lines with long bamboo poles loaded with heavy explosives. The poles were pushed under the metal mats which serve as the air strip surface and set off at numerous points.

Thousands of the enemy troops also pushed their intricate system of foxholes and trenches closer to the barbed wire barricades and bunkers protecting the fortress. In some places the Vietminh edged to within a few hundred yards of key defense positions.

A WILD ONRUSH aimed at overwhelming Dien Bien Phu's defenders was expected within four or five days. It was believed this third attack would be a do-or-die effort to win a victory before the Geneva conference later this month on Korea and Indochina.

On his mission, Dulles can show

Velde Faces Hard Fight In Primary

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Chairman Harold H. Velde of the House Un-American Activities Committee is bidding for another term in Congress with tacit but unmistakable disapproval from within the Protestant clergy.

By no means are all the ministers in Velde's district against him. But some of them are, and say so privately. They disapprove of the way that Velde has brought individual clergymen into the scope of his investigations.

The Republican congressman from Pekin also is up against a seasoned popular state representative, Robert H. Allison, when Illinois runs off the nation's first primary next Tuesday.

"I'm going to win and you can count on it," he said.

That was in an on-the-fly statement in the midst of a fast round of speeches and appearances that kept the 60-year-old, one-armed veteran of 10 terms in the state legislature on the go all day long.

It is strictly on committee operations that Velde has opposition from among the clergymen. It goes back to the time Velde first said he thought the committee should search out any subversives, even in the clergy, and subsequently questioned several clergymen.

Velde's own pastor, the Rev. Joseph Albrecht of the First Methodist Church at Pekin, still stands by a statement he made at the time, that it was a "tragic thing to have Representative Velde even suggest such activity for his committee."

3 Sets Of Twins Born In 3 1/2 Years

SALEM (AP)—Three sets of twins in 3 1/2 years!

This was the record read after Mrs. Raymond Salter, 24, gave birth at Central Clinic here Thursday to Joe Jay, 5 pounds, 3 1/2 ounces, and Joy Kay, a half-ounce lighter.

"I wasn't at all surprised," said Mrs. Salter. "I just figured that with my luck I'd have twins again."

All her twins are boy-girl combinations. The first, John Henry and Su Lin, were born Oct. 9, 1950. Last May 4, Penny Lou and Paul Lee arrived.

It counts up to a Salter family of 10, for there are also Raymond Jr., 6 and Jet Ann 5.

Brownell Cites Need of New Anti-Red Laws

Attorney General Hints FBI, Courts Better Than McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Att. Gen. Brownell says the FBI, the Justice Department and the courts are ever vigilant but the nation needs more stringent laws to dig the Communists out of hiding.

Brownell did not mention by name Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), whose Senate Investigations subcommittee had done much of Congress' Red probing, but the attorney general felt the strong impression he believes the law enforcement agencies of the executive branch and the courts are capable of dealing with the Red menace at home.

His speech was regarded in some quarters as an effort to take the play away from McCarthy's controversial Communist-in-government hunt Brownell said:

"The FBI, the Department of Justice and the courts are your agents in dealing with this Communist conspiracy. All are vigilant in their readiness to meet any move or emergency which the Communist party in America might precipitate."

He said new laws are needed, however, "to destroy by legal, orderly processes the Communist party in this country."

THE ATTORNEY general said the country needs laws "to eliminate Communist control of any industrial organization or labor union in vital sections of our national economy."

He proposed the imposition of the death penalty for peacetime, as well as wartime espionage.

In his program to meet the Communist "threat to our nation's safety," he outlined also these proposals:

Permission for an employer to dismiss from defense plants during a national emergency any person whose record shows he is likely to engage in sabotage or espionage.

Measures to prevent witnesses from pleading self-incrimination as an excuse for refusing to testify.

There have been proposals for a law that would permit the government to grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses, who could then be ordered to answer questions. Though their testimony could not then be used against them, it might help catch "higher-ups."

Legislation on the use of wire-tapped evidence.

Taking away the citizenship of any person found guilty of advocating violent overthrow of the government.

Eliminating the statute of limitations—which prevents prosecution for crimes after a number of years—in espionage cases.

Pseudo Prof Offered Aid In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 32-year-old pseudo professor recently fired by the University of New Hampshire has been offered job help by Philadelphia's managing director because his father died in line of duty as a city policeman.

Robert K. Sawyer, city managing director, has offered to help Marvin Hewitt who was discharged at New Hampshire after officials discovered he was posing as a mathematics and physics professor when actually he never finished high school.

Sawyer's sympathetic response to the story of the self-taught student, was prompted by the fact that Hewitt's father, the late police Sgt. Samuel Hewitt, was killed while chasing a car thief in April, 1947. The thief later was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Sawyer said he had discussed the story of Hewitt's son with Commissioner of Police Thomas J. Gibbons, who agreed that everything should be done to find a place in Philadelphia industry for the fake professor.

Sawyer said he wrote to Hewitt in care of a national magazine which carried a story on the native Philadelphian.

Hewitt, now living in Hempstead, N. Y., says he hasn't received the letter to date and prefers not to comment until he does. He says he is not employed at present.

Capitol Highlights This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—By coincidence or otherwise, the biggest efforts in Congress this week centered around much the same subjects President Eisenhower talked about in his address to the nation Monday night.

Eisenhower took to the air to plead for a calm, but realistic, approach to menaces of an atomic age—the threats of a Kremlin-started war, of Communist chipping away at the free world's borders, of Red infiltration into the United States, of depression here at home.

What worried the legislators most in the matter of outside Communist aggression was the eight-year-old Indochina war. Secretary of State Dulles gave the House Foreign Affairs Committee the first official word that Chinese Communist anti-aircraft gunners are shooting down French planes at the besieged fortress of Dien Bien Phu. In so doing, he said, Red China is "coming awful close" to the fresh aggression which he has declared could bring American retaliation.

The next day Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) set off a boiling debate by declaring the fight against Communists in Indochina is hopeless until the defense of southeast Asia is recognized as the goal, and "not the maintenance of political relationships upon ancient colonialism."

Senate Majority Leader Knowland (Calif) gave support to Dulles' call for "united action" against aggression when he said now is the time for the free nations "to step up and be counted." Minority Leader Lyndon Johnson (Tex) added bipartisan backing, declaring "We are at the cross roads of foreign policy right now."

But Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) voiced apprehension felt by many colleagues when he asked: "Does Secretary of State Dulles' statement that the Chinese Communists have almost come to the point where we would take massive retaliation against them mean 'almost' for us, too?"

Eisenhower's plea for 3½ billion dollars worth of new foreign aid in the year beginning July 1—sent to Capitol Hill Tuesday—was a natural target for legislators worried about Red aggression. The total was about $1,200,000 below the previous year's level.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee said the Indochina crisis and other problems required a new look at the foreign aid program—hinting that dollar help should be trimmed for countries who don't join the United States in "action" rather than "mere words."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), on the other hand, said attempting financial pressure on allies would boomerang—"it would play right into the Kremlin's hands."

EAST-WEST TRADE

Foreign Aid Administrator Stassen told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the free world is ready to do more business with Iron Curtain countries in the interest of peace. But four senators questioned the wisdom of opening more trade channels to Russia.

WIRETAPPING

In the drive against Communists on the home front, the House passed 378-10 an administration-requested bill to allow evidence from wire taps to be used in federal court in national security cases.

Republican leaders lost the big tussle on the bill, however, when 32 GOP congressmen deserted to a Democrat-sponsored move to require a court order before the attorney general could authorize such wire tapping. Atty. Gen. Brownell wanted the power without court approval. The Democratic substitute, by Rep. Willis (D-La), won 221-166.

MCCARTHY-ARMY

The senate investigations subcommittee inquiry into charges exchanged between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and top Army officials stayed on dead center most of the week after Boston Lawyer Samuel B. Sears resigned as special counsel. Sears withdrew after questions—which he called baseless—were raised about his impartiality toward McCarthy.

Then Lawyer Ray H. Jenkins of Knoxville, Tenn., took the job. Jenkins said "I have no record publicly or otherwise as to Sen. McCarthy or what has come to be known as McCarthyism." Public hearings were set for April 22.

Pickaway County Civil Defense Director Bernard Tait revealed Saturday several signs of renewed activity in the long-stalled emergency planning.

All the new enthusiasm, he indicated, can be traced directly to city Council's plans to set aside several hundred dollars to pump new life into the district's Civil Defense activity. Councilmen said they favored such action in view of matching fund offers from both the county and federal governments.

Tait said Fire Chief Talmer Wise is anxious to list the names of applicants for auxiliary firemen, and that reorganization of the auxiliary police unit is also proceeding steadily.

"Sgt. Rod List and Officer Leroy Hawks are making a great success of the auxiliary police organization," Tait said. "They're in charge of the unit and I understand they already have 35 or 40 men signed up."

TAIT ALSO said Virginia Wilson, registered nurse, will start first aid classes here in about two weeks. The classes bogged down this past winter because of a lack of public interest, after drawing a large attendance last summer.

The county Civil Defense chief said he would travel to Columbus Monday to confer with the Ohio state Civil Defense director.

Sensenbrenner Says Columbus Chances Good

this time, however, to "pinpoint" even a prospective site in the stretch of country between the two cities.

Aside from the enthusiastic hopes voiced by the mayor, one outstanding fact he revealed appeared to confirm that this region if still ranked among the topmost in bidding for the nation's new air school.

Sensenbrenner explained he had received assurances some time ago that the academy may be located in the Columbus area, and that recent queries were made to determine the status of plans. In reply, he said, Washington officials notified him the Columbus Chamber of Commerce had been asked early this week to provide additional data on the advantages the academy would have in this section—supplementing information sent some time ago.

The most recent query, the mayor continued, has not yet reached his office, and that a study of it will constitute "the next step."

"I'll have to find out what they want in the way of additional information," he said. "I'll have to see what their additional requirements are, and how we can meet them in this area."

It was unlikely the Columbus Chamber would have been asked for additional information if a site in this region were not one of the best spots under consideration.

Hopes of getting the Air Force Academy have been expressed by almost every state in the Union, and many communities in most of them—Ohio included—have asked to have the new school constructed in their own localities.

PUBLICLY at least, talk of having the academy built in this region has been little more than half-hearted, especially in the face of seemingly strong bids from other sections and other states. A survey group to study possible sites was reported Friday to be inspecting the Orlando Air Force Base in Florida.

Sensenbrenner indicated, nevertheless, that hopes to get the academy in this sector are stronger now than ever before. And he made it clear he feels the most suitable locations would be one of the many between Columbus and Circleville.

Friday's wire dispatch said the possible site referred to by Vorys was in the vicinity of Lockbourne Air Force Base. But Sensenbrenner emphasized the big Lockbourne base would be only one of many inducements for the academy planners, who have been talking of the nation's need for such a school for many years.

He pointed out that Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, probably America's top-ranking center for aeronautical research, would also be relatively close. And that an Air Force Academy in this region would have the benefit of well established laboratories, both in Columbus and Dayton.

Additionally, Ohio's geographical location and topography have frequently been described as favorable factors in any bidding for the airman's school.

Sensenbrenner, who plans to visit Circleville next month, said he hoped to have more definite word on the academy project in the not too distant future.

Trial Technicality Clarified By Amey

Former Mayor Ed Amey has clarified a technical point concerning the Conley brothers trial which ended Wednesday.

There had been some question as to why French Conley was tried in Mayor's court and fined $25 while Estill had to stand trial in front of a jury and was fined $100. Seemingly both were accused of the same offense.

According to Amey, French was accused of resisting arrest because he refused to heed officer John Lockard's warning to stop the Conley car. Amey states that this is a misdemeanor, the penalty for which cannot exceed a $50 fine.

Estill was accused of obstructing Lockard when the Circleville city policeman tried to arrest French. This is classified as a felony, Amey pointed out.

According to Ohio law this is punishable by $500 fine and 30 days in jail. Judge William Radcliffe gave Estill this maximum sentence, suspending all but $100 of the fine.

Janet Leigh Gives Movie Capital A Good Name By Being Herself

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Janet Leigh came here recently and did something probably no other visiting Hollywood actress has done since the late Rin-Tin-Tin was a pup.

She went to Grant's tomb. Did not just drive by and glance at it. Went inside and looked around.

As most film stars would rather be found unconscious at the bottom of an abandoned coal pit than caught mingling with tourists in Grant's Tomb, I asked her:

"Did you go to win a bet?" "No, I didn't," she said, firmly. "I went because I had heard about it all my life, and I wanted to see it. It reminded me a lot of Napoleon's Tomb in Paris."

"I've also taken the boat ride around Manhattan Island, watched the ice skaters in Rockefeller Center, been to the top of the Empire State Bldg., and gone for a walk in Central Park."

She did all this without even wearing dark glasses.

"I like to see famous landmarks," said Janet. "I want to learn all I can about people and cities. Each gives off a feeling of its own, but you have to get to know them to appreciate what makes them different."

What makes Miss Leigh different from many film stars is her enthusiasm. She is in love with being an actress, in love with her fans she still thinks of them as people rather than a mob, in love with actor Tony Curtis, her husband, in love with life itself.

She's even in love with Hollywood, too, and her brown-flecked hazel eyes light up like a neon tube as she defends it.

"Everyone likes a scapegoat, so they can escape attention themselves," she said, warmly. "That is what Hollywood is like to talk about the awful things that happen in Hollywood, but there are things that take place in their own country clubs you wouldn't even want to hear about."

(Editor's note: Miss Leigh may be right about Hollywood, but she's sure wrong about Boyle. Right now he's probably applying for a life membership in one of those country clubs.)

Janet has been in 25 pictures, but had never seen the premier of any of her films until she attended the Broadway opening of "Prince Valiant" this week. Nothing more exciting had happened to her since she quit her job in a dime store.

When the police, who enjoy premieres about as much as they do parades or gastric attacks, began pushing her fans back, Janet begged them to be more gentle.

"Gee, what kind of a premier would it be if these people hadn't shown up?" she asked.

As she walked toward her car afterward, crying with excitement, she lifted a hand to shield

The British and French whom he is trying to win to the U. S. plan:

1. Outspoken backing from President Eisenhower. A White House meeting of the President and the secretary today was arranged apparently to dramatize the top-level supports for Dulles' critical mission.

2. Good wishes for Dulles from members of Congress along with intimations that some U. S. lawmakers favor a financial crack-down on allies who do not fall in with U. S. plans.

3. The first formal acceptance of the bid Dulles made to nine countries to join the United States in a front of free nations against the Red menace. Thailand's ambassador, Pote Sarasin, yesterday brought to Dulles word of the decision by his country, which borders on Indochina.

Dulles takes off from Washington in an Air Force plane at 6 p. m. EST for London. After conferences there with Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill he plans to fly to Paris Tuesday to continue discussions with Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. Dulles is scheduled to return to the United States Wednesday.

THE OFFICIAL

State Department announcement said Dulles' talks in London and Paris "will concern themselves with questions relating to the Geneva Conference" on Korean and Indochinese peace settlements. This conference is due to open April 26, with the Western Big Three, Russia and Red China in attendance.

However, the primary purpose for the quickly scheduled trip is Dulles' need to persuade the British and French governments to join in the "united action" program he called for 13 days ago.

The British and French governments, in consultations carried out through diplomatic channels, have shown reluctance to take any such action in advance of the Geneva meeting. They have reportedly questioned whether it was necessary and, if so, whether this was the time to do it.

Bishop Is Sued

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Rev. William Richards has sued Bishop Hazen G. Werner of Columbus, head of the Ohio Area of the Methodist Church, for $500,000, claiming the bishop libeled him last during an investigation of White Cross Hospital in Columbus, from which Richards was ousted as superintendent.

"Yes," she said. "Keep clean and keep healthy."

Someone had better tell Janet Leigh to watch her step. A girl like that could give Hollywood a good name.

Suspends License Of Drunken Driver

A drunken driving charge brought a fine, jail sentence and suspended license to a Columbus woman in Judge Sterling Lamb's Municipal Court Friday.

Vera Agnes Harmon, 44, of Columbus, was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and her license was suspended for six months. State Patrolman Ray Hoylman had arrested her for operation of a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

In another action, Edward B. Harmont, 26, of Chillicothe, was fined $15 and costs for speeding 50 in a 35 mile-an-hour zone. Officer Max Forquer arrested Harmont.

Bible Study Hour To Open Services For Presbyterians

Palm Sunday services at the Presbyterian Church will begin with the Bible Study hour at 9:30 a. m. and continue with worship at 10:30 a. m. at which time the Rev. Donald Mitchell will preach on the Basic Christian Belief in "The Communion of Saints."

The unique triumph of the Christian Church over the enemies of Christ and of Christian goodness in our time is the power of the prayers of Believers; prayer for each other and for all who are yet living without Christ.

As our Lord came in triumph into the city of Jerusalem on that first Palm Sunday, to bear the full burden of our sins, not all the wiles of Satan could prevail to stop Him. Satan tried and failed.

Even so are all Christian saints, believers in Christ, sanctified by living in Christ—all are to bear upon our hearts in prayer before God, the interests of the family, the Church, and the world. Thus by union and communion with Christ, the great Head of the Church, the saints, by their intercessory prayers, triumph with our Lord in His victory over Satan. The theme finds its basic authority in the Gospel of Mark chapter 11.

The choir for this service will be entirely male voices. They will sing the immortal Palm Sunday anthem entitled, "Jerusalem." Those singing the solo parts are: Don Meyers, Melvin Yates, James B. Carr, Mr. M. W. Burkhardt will sing the baritone solo, "The Palms."

In the afternoon, the Lenten Instruction Class will meet at 2 p. m. to study The Sacraments of the Church.

In the evening at 6:30, the Couples Club will meet for their regular meeting, in the social rooms of the Church. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hart and Mr. and Mrs. Wes Edstrom will be hosts and hostesses at a box supper. The program will follow.

The Board of Trustees of the Presbyterian Church will meet Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. in the session room.

Group "A" of the Presbyterian Women's Association will meet at the home of Mrs. J. Adkins, Wednesday evening, 7:30 p. m.

The annual Holy Week Communion service will be held in the Presbyterian Church Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m.

The Annual Union Good Friday service will be held in the Presbyterian Church Friday afternoon from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m. The Rev. James Recob, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, will preach the sermon.

Methodist Church To Hear Of Jesus Jerusalem Entry

"The Soul's True King" will be the sermon topic which the Rev. Robert B. Weaver will use Palm Sunday morning for both the eight and ten-thirty o'clock worship services.

The entry of Jesus into Jerusalem is one of the two special instances where Jesus is not seen in the role of a servant. The other was on the Mountain of Transfiguration. There he was seen as the eternal Son of God. During the triumphal entry into the city of Jerusalem he was seen as the eternal King.

The entry was of importance because considerable preparation was made for it. Least the approaching death of Jesus be wrongly interpreted as a failure for Jesus to be the Messiah Jesus makes the formal entry into the city of David. The choice of an ass was made because conquerors rode upon horses enroute to war, but on errands of peace they rode the ass. So Jesus the Prince of Peace elected to ride upon the animal which suggested brotherliness.

Jesus was the true king because his kingdom was not of time and place, but of that eternal quality which made it contemporary for every race and every age. He was the manifestation of a Kingdom of Love that was for all mankind, for all time by the very Creator of the Universe.

EUB Church Offers A Fellowship Hour For Palm Sunday

Palm Sunday services in First Evangelical United Brethren Church will begin with the Unified Worship-Church School at 9:30 a. m. The Rev. Carl L. Wilson will speak from the scripture in St. Mark 11:3. "The Lord hath need of him." This message is in preparation for the 11 a. m. Fellowship Hour when new members will be received into the church.

For the Unified Worship, Miss Lucille Kirkwood, organist, has selected "Jerusalem" by Parker as the prelude, "Open the Gates of the Temple" by Knapp as the offertory and "Hosanna Fanfare" by Lorenz as the postlude.

The congregation will sing hymns, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," "Crown Him with Many Crowns" and "Lead On, O King Eternal."

The Church Choir Male Quartette, consisting of Edwin Richardson, Montford Kirkwood, Fred Brown and Elliott Hawkes, will sing the anthem, "The Palms."

Following the worship, Church School classes will study the Bible lesson, "Betrayal and Crucifixion."

The service will open with Mrs. Verneal Thomas playing the organ prelude, "Hosanna!" The congregation will read Responsive Selection, "The Church at Worship" from Psalm 95:1-7; 100:1-5, after which Church School Superintendent Edwin Richardson will read "Christ's Prayer for the Church" from St. John 17. The Fidelis Chorus will sing the anthem, "Blessed Is He."

A class of 22 young people, who have completed the Church Membership Instruction course directed by the pastor during the past six weeks, will receive the Rite of Confirmation in a special ceremony. A group of 14 adults will make their Church Membership vows.

To close the service the congregation will extend the Right Hand of Fellowship to all new members. Closing the Crusade for Christ and the Church which has been in progress during the week, the Rev. Fred Ketter will preach in the 7:30 p. m. service. Montford and Lucille Kirkwood will furnish special music.

The public is invited to these services. A special invitation is extended to newcomers to the Circleville community, who do not have a church home.

Morning, Evening Services Planned By Calvary EUB

The morning worship service will be conducted at 9 a. m. by the pastor, the Rev. James B. Recob, and the Sunday Church School superintendent, Dale De Long. The sermon will be drawn from the eleventh chapter of the Gospel according to St. Mark. The sermon topic will be "Jesus Christ is King."

The Christian Carols choir, directed by Mrs. Richard Crawford, will sing the anthem, "Lift Up Your Heads," by Nolte. Minnie Wilkerson, Church pianist, will play for her prelude the familiar Palm Sunday selection, "The Palms."

The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered at the Palm Sunday morning worship service. Ten infants and children will be presented for Christian Baptism by their parents. A class of seven young persons and adults will be brought into the membership of the Church at the same hour.

At 7:30 p. m. Sunday, the last in a series of six Sunday evening Lenten services will be conducted in Calvary Church. The pastor will speak from the sixth "word" of Christ from the Cross, "It is Finished." Special music will be sung by the male quartet.

A candlelight service of Holy Communion will be conducted Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Church. Inasmuch as this will be the third quarterly Communion service of the Church, all members are being urged to attend this service, and to receive the sacrament.

Church Of Christ Will Study Right Of Personal Belief

"Does Every Person Have A Right to His Own Belief?" is the question to be studied in the sermon Sunday at the church of Christ, meeting at 159 E. Main St.

In answering this question evangelist Charles Cochran will bring out the following facts: "Legally speaking we do have a right to believe anything we so choose. Our Constitution was founded upon principles of freedom of religion, granting to every individual the choice of religious belief. Every right thinking person desires that this privilege shall continue."

"The Scriptures teach that every individual, as a free moral agent, has the right to choose what he shall believe and how he shall live in this life. God does not use force or compel anyone to believe anything against his will. Yet, the point that many overlook in discussing this question is, the Bible teaches that if one chooses to believe error and disbelieve Truth, he must suffer the consequences of his choice. Scripturally speaking, therefore, we do not have the right to our own belief. We must believe and obey what God wants believed and obeyed."

"Cain did not have the right to his own belief about what to sacrifice to God, yet he thought he did (Gen. 4:3-5). Nadab and Abihu, sons of Aaron, did not have a right to their own belief about offering strange fire before the Lord. They suffered the consequences of their folly (Lev. 10:1-7). Naaman did not have a right to his own belief about how he should be healed of his leprosy. He found he must take the Lord's way (2 Kings 5:1-14)."

"Today we do not have the right to believe or disbelieve as we choose, for 'without faith it is impossible to please God' (Heb. 11:6). We must repeat or perish (Lk. 13:3). No choice here. We must confess Christ before men (Mt. 10:32-34). We must believe and be baptized to be saved (Mk. 16:15-16). In none of these things and in many others we do not have the right of our own belief, but must obey the Lord."

Episcopalians Set Service Schedule For Palm Sunday

Episcopalians of St. Philip's parish will observe Palm Sunday beginning with a celebration of Holy Communion at 8 a. m. Sunday. This service will be followed by the special Palm Sunday Church School service at 9 a. m. when the story of the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem will be told by the rector, the Rev. Jack C. Bennett.

A special observance of the day will be held at the 10:30 a. m. service when all the members of the congregation will receive a cross made from palm branches by the Altar Guild of St. Philip's, under the direction of Mrs. Jack C. Bennett and Mrs. Leora Sayre. These palm crosses will be blessed at the altar and distributed to each member of the congregation at the Communion rail with the words, "Receive thou the Cross of Christ and know that Christ died for thee."

Thus the cross will serve as a reminder that at the end of the triumphal entry lay the cross and passion of Jesus. It will remind members of the parish that just as the loyalty of the people of Jerusalem changed from Christ, our own loyalty is often placed with non-Christian forces and ideas.

At the evening service beginning at 7 p. m., the parish will complete its Lenten series of services and sermons by visiting preachers pertaining to the Holy Communion. This Sunday, the Rev. Paul E. Hannaford, priest-in-charge of St. Paul's, Logan and The Church of the Epiphany, Nelsonville, will be the visitor and will speak on the subject "After the Holy Communion. What shall we do?"

At the same service the choir will complete the Lenten use of special plainsong settings for the evening canticles. This week, Richard Boyd will be the cantor.

presentation of the cantata "The Living Redeemer."

The above comments are typical of the thousands who have found in Monroe Folding Tables the happy solution to their problems in setting up and serving church dinners, etc. And the experience of Mrs. X could be that of any of these thousands of women connected with churches as well as many other institutions who have purchased Monroe tables, chairs, etc. There are probably more than one "Mrs. X" right in your community to whom you could refer you.

While helping serve a banquet to raise funds for her church a few months ago, Mrs. X noticed that the guests were crowded and uncomfortable and that it was actually impossible to seat all guests at one time.

Later, Mrs. X saw and answered one of our ads and was amazed to learn from our reply of the many exclusive advantages and the low direct prices offered only on Monroe Folding Tables. After receiving the new Monroe Tables ordered by her church, Mrs. X wrote us that their members and guests are happier and with the increased attendance at their church affairs, their income is higher since they added their new Monroe Tables.

We know you, too, would like new, modern Monroe Folding Banquet Tables for your church, lodge, club, school, etc. Write us today for catalog and special discounts to institutions and organizations. Terms up to 2 years can be arranged, 6 months with no interest or carrying charge.

OUT OF THE PAST ONE HUNDRED YEARS ago Russia touched off the Crimean war. This is the donkeybrook that most folks associate with the good works of a dedicated lady, Florence Nightingale, who taught the British war office a lesson or two in the management of wartime hospitals. Actually, there are some parallels between the Crimean embroglio and present conditions that deserve consideration because of the international lessons they contain.

Then as now Russia was an expansionist imperialism. The czar, like his hammer-and-sickle successors, was everlastingly eyeing greener pastures and tangled with Turkey to grab off some real estate in Europe.

Britain always had the Russians figured as troublemakers and came in to bail the sultan out, particularly when the trade route to India appeared to be imperiled. The French came along for the ride. It took a year and a half of bloody fighting to slap the invader down.

A century later finds Russia still pecking away at border countries, but this time the U. S. is strengthening those buffers through aid and alliance. Though thwarted at the old Russian stand, sovietized Russia has made huge gains elsewhere in eastern Europe. Seen in retrospect of 100 years, Russia has made plenty of hay.

PLANES FOR FRANCE FOLLOWING AN announcement from the White House that the United States will send more bombers to aid the French in their war against Communists in Indochina government officials were quick to add the U. S. would not become involved in a war, such as followed the country's entry into the Korean affair, under auspices of the United Nations.

It was explained the planes were only part of aid previously pledged to France, and were being expedited because of the critical situation at Dien Bien Phu.

Ammunition and other defense supplies have been going to the French, and American technicians and maintenance crews already are on the job in Indochina. The distinction is made that so long as America does not send actual fighting men it is not at war with the Communists there. The bombers will be flown to the scene by American pilots, but turned over to the French upon arrival.

War in Indochina has placed another financial burden on the U. S. government, which is sending aid to the tune of $1.2 billion a year. This confirms the charge that Russia is fostering these regional wars for the ultimate bankruptcy of the United States. Outnumbered four-to-one, the French are in a desperate situation in Indochina, and want American draftees to be sent to their aid. Under French law, French conscripts cannot be sent to Indo-China.

WASHINGTON—"Is it true," inquires Mrs. G. K. of Jefferson City, Mo., "that the generals and admirals at the Pentagon run President Eisenhower?" Many of us who voted for Ike were worried about his military background and sympathies, but we couldn't stand Truman. Now, I see signs that our fears were justified.

Answer: It is not true. On the contrary, President Eisenhower keeps the military in line and under his thumb for the simple reason that he knows all the tricks of their profession, for he has used to use them himself. He has cut their appropriations, and insisted on a more businesslike management of the Defense Department. Both he and Secretary Wilson have talked tough to the so-called brass.

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

Jacobo Arbenz, President of Guatemala, the first "People's Republic" to have been established on the American continents, has had this to say about coffee: "Exports of coffee for the 1952-53 season amounted to 1,237,894 quintals (one quintal equals 101.3 pounds). The United States took 85.20 percent of this. The higher prices will benefit the 1953-54 season in particular. Figures for it are not yet available.

"It is absolutely clear that the rise in coffee prices has been due to economic laws that operate independently of the will of man. A forced cut in consumption, or a decree on prices, could not bring about lower-priced coffee.

"From the economic or political viewpoint, it is even more impossible to justify a boycott directed exclusively against Guatemalan coffee. For some years to come there will be a sure market throughout the world for coffee. Guatemala is insured of a good position in regard to coffee. Nevertheless, diversification of crops is part of the agrarian reform."

This statement is interesting because of the curious use of Marxian terminology in the second paragraph and the evidence that the continuance of this "People's Republic" and its possible (or even probable) emergence as a Soviet satellite is dependent upon the support of its economy by the United States.

The United States, as a government, only purchases coffee for its own use in comparatively small quantities for its armed services, veterans hospitals, etc. The Government of the United States does not purchase coffee for its citizens. We have not yet been reduced to barter so prevalent in dealing among the satellite countries and in the trade between Soviet Russia and some nations.

Therefore when 85.20 percent of a country's export of any product is taken by American citizens, they enjoy the free right to use or to refuse to use this product. I am free to drink Guatemalan, Colombian, Haitian, or Hawaiian coffee or none at all.

In a word, what any American does about his food and drink is personal and individual and if I, as a free citizen, read a label on a can to make sure that there is no Guatemalan coffee therein, it is strictly my business and the government cannot force me to poison my conscience any more than my alimentary system.

Therefore when the Marxian concept of historical materialism is applied to a man drinking coffee by such a phrase as "due to economic laws that operate independently of the will of man," I smell not coffee but Marxism. Is an economic law a revelation from Heaven? Is an economic law a law of nature?

Even laws of nature are not altogether independent of the will of man, as, for instance, hybridization in agriculture, breeding in animals, or the experiments in atomic fission and hydro-nuclear fusion. The will of man often transcends the so-called laws of nature, thus proving the correctness of Thomas Aquinas over the errors of Karl Marx.

DIET AND HEALTH How Blindness May Strike Infants Born Prematurely

By HERMAN N. BUNDSEN, M.D. BLINDNESS in children is most often caused by a disease of premature infants known as retrolental fibroplasia. This disease usually occurs at birth in infants weighing less than four pounds.

In this disease, the retina or camera part of the eye, which connects with the eye nerve and transmits the image that we see to the brain, is affected. The blood vessels become uneven and increase in size, and a membrane forms over the retina. This causes it to disconnect from its nervous connections and thus causes blindness.

Use of Oxygen It is believed that certain changes in the amount of oxygen administered to these premature infants may be responsible for the disease. Therefore, oxygen, given to these infants in the incubator, is started and stopped gradually.

Lack of oxygen can also be a cause. Even though our care for premature infants has advanced to remarkable degrees, every physician who delivers babies should make an attempt to carry the mother to the full stage of pregnancy. This in itself will help prevent many cases of blindness, due to retrolental fibroplasia.

Strikes Early in Life Retrolental fibroplasia can develop in an infant as young as two weeks of age. Therefore, premature babies should be given frequent eye examinations to determine whether this disease, if it is present, is progressing.

During the starting phases of this disease, it is believed some cases may be helped by the use of ACTH and cortisone. These wonder hormones are very effective in certain cases. However, once permanent damage has occurred to the eye, there is no help.

QUESTION AND ANSWER MRS. P.: Can a rupture be dangerous to an infant? Answer: A hernia or rupture can prove dangerous to an infant. Whether a rupture will be dangerous or not can usually be determined by a physician. Types of hernias or ruptures that are dangerous in infants can usually be successfully corrected by surgery.

CAMEO by HELEN TOPPING MILLER

Despite the pinch of poverty, Gale Taber tried to keep up with her old family traditions, maintaining the horse-breeding farm in Tennessee which had come to her upon her husband's death. But it was a non-profit venture, she found, one which steeped her in ever mounting debt. She could easily have solved her financial problem by accepting wealthy Sewell Albright's oft-repeated offer of marriage, but Gale Taber loved only her two daughters, now of marriageable age.

CHAPTER SEVEN RAVEL rode out of the stable and Gale watched while Robert gathered up the discarded shoes and strung them on a length of wire. "That's about 40 I've pulled lately because they didn't suit her," he said diamally. "My wife's at the blacksmith. He'll take a little off our bill."

Robert straightened up. He was pale and slight. He had once been a jockey as his bowed legs and bent back showed, but as he aged his hands had lost their grip. "Mrs. Taber, do you suppose you could get a little money together for me by the first of the month?" he asked uncertainly. "My wife's at the blacksmith. He'll take a little off our bill."

Gale bit her lip. "I'll do my best, Robert. I'm going into town in a day or two; I'll see about it." She started for the door, then turned back. "If we could sell two or three of those young mares—If we cut the price, maybe—"

"Last time I took 'em to a sale I cut the price low. I didn't have time to ask you but I know you had cash troubles, Mrs. Taber. But there wasn't a buyer there. All anybody was after was mules, and not many of them. These new tractors and automobiles have ruined the horse business."

"Robert, saddle a quiet one for me, will you? I'll ride out a little, but I don't feel up to fighting a frisky mount."

"Yes, ma'am. You'd better have old Doll then. She ain't been out in a couple of days, but she don't never cut up any."

The lane was still muddy, but the elderly mare was patient and strong, and her resolute manner or setting her feet on drier spots calmed Gale's mood of tension a little. There had to be a way out.

She turned in at the gate of the Williamson house. The drive was rutted and in need of surfacing, too, she noted. The house should have a coat of paint. John-Mark's father had died the first year of the war; his mother six years ago. Obviously, Gale was thinking, old Tony had not swept or scrubbed a porch since.

John-Mark was in the long old building that had once been Capt. Williamson's proudly equipped stable. The box stalls and tack-rooms had been converted into calf-pens, and in one of them she found John-Mark and a Negro boy battling a small butt-headed animal that stubbornly fought a pail of milk. John-Mark looked up as she walked in, grinned at her, handed the bucket over to the boy and came toward her.

"Hi, Gale! Trying to wean one of these mule-headed critters. He knows he's got a pedigree long as your arm and it makes him ornery. You didn't walk over to the Taber market?" he asked. "You know I don't need a horse. Old Bull gets me where I want to go at a comfortable jog."

"How about $500? You can afford it, John-Mark."

He took her elbow gently and led her out of the building. "Come in and have a cup of coffee with me. I never buy horses on an empty stomach. Who's twisting your arm now? Not the bank, I know. I fixed them up till March on every piece of paper you've got."

"Robert's wife needs money and his child has to have a winter coat," she said. "Charlie wants his pay, too. Forget my little overture. I'll find some way out."

"How about a sale, Gale? Auction off some of your high-blooded hay destroyers to the highest bidder." He opened the back door for her, and Tony looked up from peeling turnips and jerked a graying head in greeting. "Howdy, Miss Gale."

"Good morning, Tony."

"Slip some coffee into that pot, but wash it first," ordered John-Mark. "Any fire in yonder?"

"No, suh. I ain't lit no fire, but it's laid all ready. You-all can sit out here where it's warm does you choose to. You won't bother me none."

John-Mark dropped a pile of breeders' magazines and an indignant gray cat out of a chair and drew it up to the table. "Sit here, Gale. We don't have time to be elegant on this place. Some day I'll get that old furnace overhauled and working. Haven't had much time since."

He has cut their appropriations, and insisted on a more businesslike management of the Defense Department. Both he and Secretary Wilson have talked tough to the so-called brass.

NOT POPULAR—Even during the campaign, many military professionals were concerned over the possibility of an Eisenhower victory. They did not want in the White House a man who knew their quaint ways and secrets. I would not be surprised if a majority of them voted for Adlai E. Stevenson. As of today, Ike is not particularly popular with Pentagon professionals.

As a matter of fact, former President Truman was far more partial to the military bigwigs. As an aspirant for West Point in his youth and an avid student of military history, he had a sneaking and irresistible admiration for them.

He was overawed by them, especially Gen. George C. Marshall. It was his abject devotion to Marshall, Admiral Leahy and other desk heroes which led Truman to recall General MacArthur from Korea.

"Everybody seems to be criticizing us for producing bigger and bigger H-bombs," writes

A. S. of San Jose, Calif. "Attlee, Bevan and Nehru insist that we halt our development, and try to outlaw all nuclear experiments through an agreement with Russia. In view of the awful devastation of these weapons, don't you think that Eisenhower and Dulles ought to give more thought to this proposal?"

Answer: I certainly do not. I think that on this question Attlee, Bevan, Nehru and the French Socialists are weak in the head. I agree with Churchill's realistic recognition that the only deterrent to a Russian attempt to conquer Western Europe has been our supremacy in nuclear weapons. Now that Russia challenges us and may be catching up with us in this field, there comes this demand that we throw away these weapons.

SURVIVAL—But there is no insistence that the Soviet do likewise. In my opinion, and I know that this is the Eisenhower-Dulles viewpoint, the democracies' principal hope of survival, and of an ultimate arrangement for permanent peace with Russia, lies in our industrial and A-H bomb might. The Reds in Russia and China know no other language.

"Will you please tell me why," writes Mrs. M. R. R. of Peekskill N. Y., "President Eisenhower recalled Chester Bowles as Ambassador to India. In the opinion of prominent people who know, he was an ideal American representative in this important country. But he was replaced by a man to whom President Eisenhower owed a political debt."

Answer: I agree with Mrs. M. R. R. that Ambassador Bowles should have been retained. I never sympathized with his radical economic and social theories. I wrote at the time of his diplomatic appointment that it was a most inept selection. I was wrong. Ambassador Bowles and his family (he sent his youngsters to Indian schools) made an excellent impression in India.

He should have been kept on the job. But don't blame Ike for this mistake. The Democrats set the precedent of treating diplomatic appointments as political plums.

Bennett Cerf's Try, Stop Me

The late Jim Thorpe, all-time athletic great, once hit three home runs in a single game into different states! In an exhibition game in a Texas border-town park, playing for the New York Giants, Thorpe socked one ball over the left field fence into Oklahoma, a second over the right field wall into Arkansas, and a third for an inside-the-park round-tripper in Texas.

Mrs. Guggenheimer peered anxiously around the canasta room of the Century Club and asked, "Where's that dizzy blonde who was passing the drinks around here?" "What's the matter," asked her friend, "looking for a cocktail?" "Not at all," explained Mrs. G. "I'm looking for my husband."

No family should have less than three children, warns paper-tycoon Sam Himmelf, because if there's one genius among them, there should be two to support him.

Any cracks or loose-fitting doors and windows in your house? Then do some filling or tightening and you'll save yourself work by preventing dirt streaks on curtains, walls and windows.

Note for new cooks: Cut a criss-cross in the top of baked potatoes as soon as they're ready. This way you allow steam to escape and prevent potatoes from becoming soggy.

The McCarthy Story: High Aspirations

Editor's Note — In an exclusive interview, two veteran AP reporters asked Sen. Joseph McCarthy about his political plans. In this second article of two, here are his answers.

By JACK BELL and RICHARD MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is Sen. McCarthy running for president? Is he trying to capture control of the Republican party?

The Wisconsin senator answers "no" to both questions in this recorded interview with The Associated Press. Participating also was Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of McCarthy's investigating committee. Here are the questions, and McCarthy's answers:

Q—Senator, there has been a great deal of speculation on the question of whether you are running for the Republican presidential nomination in 1956 or a later year.

McCarthy—The answer is definitely no.

Q—Along that line, are you trying to capture the Republican party in any way?

A—Definitely not. Any such attempt on the part of any one senator would be ridiculous.

Q—You said you are not trying to capture the Republican party. Do you want to be the power behind the throne and have a powerful voice in naming the next Republican presidential nominee? Is that one of your objectives?

A—Would I like to have something to say about naming the next?

Q—More than just something.

A—I generally campaign for a man who I think would be the best candidate. I assume I will campaign for the man who I think could be the best Republican president again.

Q—At this point you have said, I think recently, that Eisenhower's batting average is so high that you would campaign for him in 1956. I assume that batting average is maintained.

A—I think his batting average is good. I would campaign for him if he were running today.

Q—In a televised speech, Nov. 24, 1953, you said, "Let us glance at a few cases where our batting average is zero, where we struck out in our efforts to rid the government of Reds and pro-Reds." Do you believe that the average is higher now or lower?

A—At that time I said I thought the average was high. I discussed the John Paton Davies case. I thought our batting average was zero in that case.

(John Paton Davies is a career diplomat whose loyalty has been challenged by McCarthy. He has been cleared seven times by State Department loyalty-security boards and once by the government's top loyalty review board in the Truman administration. Secretary of State Dulles announced March 23 that Davies will go before a special security board to clear up "conflicting points" raised in a new investigation of his record. Davies currently is counselor to the U.S. Embassy in Lima, Peru.)

I think President Eisenhower's batting average was good then. I still think it is good. I don't expect we will ever have a president, no matter how good he is, who will be perfect all the time. That is one of the reasons why you have a Congress.

If you could elect a president who was a perfect individual, he wouldn't need the checks of the Congress.

Q—It has been frequently asserted that you are deliberately provoking a fight with the President. Is that true in any way?

A—I think if you just examine who does the shouting you might get the answer to that. Whenever I dig out a Communist who was brought in by the old administration, I find someone like the Alsops, Edward R. Murrow or Drew Pearson shouting that McCarthy is starting a fight with the President.

It is so ridiculous that you can't hardly answer it. I am doing the job that the President promised that our administration would do, dig out the Communists.

I may say the President has never indicated to me that he was unhappy about digging Communists out.

Q—Has he ever indicated to you that he was unhappy about the methods that you have used in digging out Communists?

A—No. Let's have this qualification. He may have said things in press conferences that you might interpret to mean he was unhappy. I would let you interpret those because they are all matters of public record. As far as communication to me, directly or through anybody on his staff, or anyone else, he has never indicated any unhappiness.

Q—You don't interpret these press conference remarks as indicating unhappiness, as you call it, with the method you have used?

A—You will have to tell me what method you have in mind. By "method" do you have in mind the method of calling a witness in, examining him and getting the truth? I don't imagine he would be unhappy with that.

Q—The method of calling them in and examining—

A—I can't conceive why he would be unhappy with that. You have to name some method that is objectionable. The record is available for anyone to see. We call a man in. We give him every right to counsel. Give him every right to rebut the testimony against him. I can't think of anything we can do in addition to that. If anyone has any further suggestions, I would be glad to hear them. You find people screaming about methods, but they never tell what methods they have in mind.

Q—Just what are your personal relations with the President? You meet him once in awhile, at least socially. You have been to the White House.

A—I personally like him. Whenever I have met him, it has been a friendly meeting.

Q—You think his reaction to you is the same as your reaction to him?

A—He would have to answer that.

Q—In view of the statements that have been made recently by some Republican senators in the leadership and Leonard Hall, the national chairman, do you think there is rising opposition to you within the party, within the Republican party?

A—I think you would be just as good a judge of that as I am. There were times in the early days of this fight when it was not too popular in the eyes of some of a senator to be seen talking to me on the floor of the Senate. Then there are times when a great number of congressmen and senators were clamoring for me to come into their states to speak.

I have seen times when some of them definitely didn't want me in their state.

If I were to be concerned about my own personal popularity, with the ebb and flow of personal popularity, I couldn't do a job down here. I just have to go ahead and do this job—it is unpleasant—and not worry much about what effect it has on personal popularity.

Q—Do you ever regard yourself as an issue in the coming elections?

A—Well, I think the issue of communism is an all-important issue. The question of whether or not we have been doing a good job of digging them out I believe will be an issue. In view of the fact that I have been active in that work, my name is identified with the issue of communism—I am not sure whether that is answering your question or not.

Q—What the Democrats call "McCarthyism."

A—McCarthyism, I assume, is digging out the Communists that they allowed to come in over the past 20 years. That is a phrase coined by the Communist Daily Worker. I didn't coin it. Apparently that means digging out their pet Communists.

Q—Are you going into any what might be called private fights among Republicans for senatorial nominations?

A—Under no circumstances will I take any part in any Republican primary.

Q—Will you actively support or in any way support Margaret Chase Smith's opponent in Maine?

A—I will take no part in any primary. That includes Maine.

Q—Might you speak in Maine under any circumstances during the primary, even though you were not taking part in it?

A—I certainly wouldn't blacklist Maine. I don't have any present definite engagement to speak in Maine. I get about 25 or 30 invitations a day to speak in states from coast to coast. I received a number of invitations from Maine.

I spoke up there twice, one Saturday and one, Sunday several months ago, to veterans groups. I have had requests from other veterans groups to speak. Whether I will accept any or not, I don't know. If I do, I will be accepting them without any record to the primary fight in Maine. In other words, I am not going to go in or stay out because of any primary fight in any state.

Q—That goes for any state, of course?

A—That is right. Very definitely. I am not taking part in any of these primaries.

Q—I have a general question: your critics accuse you of dividing the nation and creating fear and confusion in America. Do you think there has been any such result from your work?

A—In other words, do you think I am creating fear by digging out Communists?

Q—I am not saying that; I say your critics have said that.

A—I think we are creating considerable fear on the part of Communists. There is no one else who should be afraid of our digging out Communists. I think this present tempest in a teapot about a few Fifth Amendment Communists we dug out of the Army is a good example. There are a lot of people who are screaming that we are hurting the morale of the Army. If you will drop over to my office and glance through a few of the thousands of letters I receive daily, you will find that 99 out of 100 military men who write are extremely happy about the fact that at long last the few Communists who are a disgrace to the Army are being exposed. They don't want Communists in the Army. In fact, they are as interested in getting them as I am.

I may be getting away from your question, "Do you think you are creating fear and confusion?" I think fear on the part of the Communists, yes.

Q—To some of your critics your recent statements seem to have indicated that you are trying to disassociate yourself more or less with this last controversy which is largely between Mr. Cohn and Mr. Adams and you and Mr. Stevens, that you are deprecating the amount of importance of this thing. Is that your attitude on it?

A—I have said that I think the people are getting awfully sick of seeing the work of a committee held up pending the settlement of a dispute between my chief counsel and the Army's chief civilian counsel. I don't mean that that dispute should not be settled. I think the senators and the public are entitled to get the information on it. I think it is ridiculous, however, in view of the fact that the staff on our committee has nothing to do with this investigation of Adams and Roy (Cohn) that they should be forced to sit around doing nothing. We have a tremendous backlog of work, for example, we have the names of 130 people in defense plants, plants handling secret and other classified work, who have backgrounds of Communist activities. They all must be called in and put under oath and questioned about this. I think that is of vital importance. Some of those with- nesses, if they act like those in the past, will even take the Fifth Amendment on whether or not they would sabotage the plant if ordered to do so by the Communist party in case of war with Communist Russia. They must be dug out.

We have ready for hearing a case in which there is alleged attempted bribery and fraud in Alaska. It is extremely important to have public hearings on that. We have completed our preliminary investigations, haven't we?

Cohn—Yes, senator.

McCarthy—We have a sizable number of cases involving what appears to be favoritism, unusual settlements in tax cases under the previous administration. There is a vast amount of work that should be done. I think it is ridiculous to hold up all that work while we are waiting for the staff to be formed on this new subcommittee of which I appointed Carl Mundt the chairman.

I would have no objection at all to giving priority to any hearing on the Adams-Cohn case if the senators want that; in other words, if they want to hold a hearing on a certain date certainly we shouldn't interfere with them on that by other hearings. But when they are not holding hearings, there is no reason why we shouldn't proceed with our work.

Q—One last question of a general nature: What do you regard as your greatest accomplishment in the work you have done since you came to the Senate, particularly in this field of trying to find Communists?

McCarthy—I wouldn't try to answer that. It is a going fight—you can't measure your accomplishments in the number of Communist heads that have fallen. It's impossible to try and put your finger on any one thing that we may have accomplished, which is most important. Besides, I would be the worst judge of that.

Ohio 6th District To Be Studied By Young GOPsters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Young Republican National Federation is using Ohio's 6th Congressional District as a guinea pig in studying campaign techniques.

The district, which the Republicans lost in 1952, includes Pickaway, Fayette, Ross, Pike, Scioto, Highland, Adams, Brown and Clermont counties.

The incumbent, Rep. James G. Polk is unopposed in the Democratic primary and is seeking his ninth term as a congressman.

Originally, Eula B. Lewis, Wheelersburg, was scheduled to run for the Democratic nomination but she was disqualified because she had voted as a Republican in a 1952 election. The disqualification was based on a new state statute. Leo Blackburn, Portsmouth, S.A.

$100 Reward Offered To Sock Schine

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A retired U. S. major general said he personally offered a reward of $100 to the "first non-com who socks Pvt. Schine in the nose."

Maj. Gen. Arthur R. Wilson, 59, who retired from the Army in 1946, referred to Pvt. G. David Schine, wealthy former investigator for the subcommittee headed by Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The Defense Department touched off a major storm in the United States with its charges that McCarthy and his committee counsel, Roy Cohn, got special favors for Schine while he was undergoing basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., and tried to get him a soft New York assignment.

McCarthy and Cohn denied the charges and accused defense officials of trying to use Schine as a "hostage" to halt McCarthy's investigations into alleged Communists in Army units.

"It's a hell of a note," Wilson said, "when the Army gets itself into a fix where a private can tell the generals in the Pentagon what to do."

Wilson commanded troops in North Africa and Europe during World War II.

Shooting Probed

DAYTON (AP)—Police said charges would be filed today against Miss Eileen Sheley, 22, in the fatal shooting of Anthony Spagnola, 26, in a Dayton restaurant yesterday.

Ringer, Leesburg, and Albert L. Daniels, Greenfield, are the Republican hopefuls. Blackburn lost to Polk in the 1952 general election. Ringer is a perennial office-seeker and Daniel's is a one-time state senator.

The primary campaign is expected to narrow down to a Blackburn-Daniels battle with Ringer on the sidelines. The winner of the primary will in November joust against Polk, former educator and farmer who makes his home in Highland County.

Young pigs will grow and grow as pigs never grew before if they are fed NEW Red Rose PIG STARTER PELLETS

Creep feed these vitamin packed pellets to young pigs at 5 days of age. Your pigs will reach early weaning at 4 to 5 weeks, maintain rapid growth — and soon be on their profit way to pork chops.

RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS help to grow young pigs in a hurry for this reason: they supplement the sow's milk, and supply additional vitamins and antibiotics which permit the litter to be weaned earlier without setbacks in growth. The high antibiotics and vitamin levels in RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS help prevent scouring, insure against anemia and develop vigor.

Pigs fed RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS grow more uniformly and reach market weights earlier. So, feed these pellets to your pigs. Remember, better pork profits come from better early feedings.

Sokolsky's These Days

Marxism orthodoxly accepts the fatalistic concept of inevitability on the general assumption that man is a product of his environment rather than the result of an act of God by creation. Free will is a Judaic-Christian concept; the rigid enslavement of man to his environment is a Marxist concept. "Inevitability" has been overcome by man since he learned to make fire.

The Communist Party in every country goes in for what it calls, agrarian reform. It will be remembered that some Americans spoke of the Chinese Communists as agrarian reformers. Even in the United States, the Communists have developed a program of agrarian reform much of which has appeared in the program of the Farmers Union.

The concept of agrarian reform is that if the land of a country can be socialized, the country will ultimately become socialized. In Russia, at the moment of the 1917 Revolution, the nationalization of land was not difficult, except in the Ukraine where it was necessary to kill and starve the peasants to succeed in introducing agrarian reforms.

While it is true that the ownership of land sometimes results in human slavery, the agrarian reform phases of Marxism are aimed not at the improvement of the lot of free farmers, but at government ownership of land and government management of its product. In some respects, it is a revival of feudalism.
